	Experts from various careers visit classrooms to share their work experiences and provide explanations about the path to employment in their field	Students take whole grade trips to explore the world outside of school in an area of curriculum focus. Experts provide explanations about the path to employment in their field.	Trips or activities specific to a particular elementary building, based on a partnership with local business/group that helps, develops career/college readiness.	Teachers make learning relevant to the "real" world of work via planned classroom lessons or extensions.	Students participate in building-wide service learning as they work toward helping others.
